

MEREDITH C. STONE

Project Manager

Expert in Utility Regulation, Market Analysis & Resource Planning, Litigation

Ms. Stone has experience providing analytical and research support on various regulatory and arbitration projects that often involve expert witness testimony. Additionally, she has experience in multiple elements of the ratemaking process, including alternative regulation, targeted infrastructure replacement plans, cash working capital/lead-lag studies, revenue requirement modeling, earnings sharing and marginal cost studies.

Ms. Stone also has project experience in the North American power and natural gas markets, with a focus on wholesale market analysis and wholesale market operations. She has provided analysis on the net Cost of New Entry in the ISO New England wholesale capacity markets, as well as experience analyzing Offer Review Trigger Prices in New England and reviewing new entrant supply offer bids. While pursuing her post-graduate studies at Brown University, Ms. Stone was part of a team of students and faculty that prepared a new fee schedule for a municipal water utility utilizing capital and operating cost projections in order to balance the municipality's water and sewer enterprise fund budget.

Ms. Stone holds a Master of Public Policy from Brown University and a B.A. in Political Science from Middlebury College.

Contact

T: 508.263.6267

E: mstone@ceadvisors.com

Education

M.P.P., Brown University

B.A., Middlebury College

Professional History

Concentric Energy Advisors

Project Manager

Senior Consultant

Assistant Consultant